

Deutsche Bahn Complaints Procedure for Human Rights and Environment – Easy to Understand

Why does this complaints procedure exist?

Deutsche Bahn wants to make sure that human rights and the environment are respected – both in its own companies and in its supply chains. A supply chain is like a chain of companies working together. They bring a product or service from the raw material to the end customer.

There is a process where anyone can report problems, such as:

- When people are treated unequally.
- Or when a company does something that harms the environment.

Who can submit a complaint?

Anyone can submit a complaint – no matter where they live (in Germany or abroad).

What can be reported?

You can report:

- When there is a risk to people or the environment.
- When human rights or environmental standards are violated.

This is related to issues caused by Deutsche Bahn or a company that supplies Deutsche Bahn.

All complaints are handled confidentially.

Who handles the complaints?

Well-trained employees from Deutsche Bahn take a close look at the complaint. These people:

- work independently,
- are neutral (that means: they are fair and not on a particular side),
- must remain confidential (that means: they will not tell anyone what you say)
- have enough time to handle the complaint.

What happens after a complaint is submitted?

1. Confirmation: You will receive a message within one week. It will say: We have received your complaint.
2. Review: We review the complaint. In doing so, we check: Were any human rights or environmental protection rules violated?
3. Investigation: We investigate the case in detail. This takes about three months. A specific department takes over based on the topic.
4. Action: If necessary, we take action. For example, we change something directly or make suggestions.
5. Result: We suggest how to proceed. You will receive a message from us.

How are you protected?

- Your personal data is kept confidential.
- Only a small, trained group of employees sees and handles your complaint.
- We will not punish or disadvantage you for speaking up.
- All records are stored securely for seven years and are then deleted.
